BIOHOOF

A unique hoof care programme to help eradicate lameness and poor hoof quality.

WHY CHOOSE BIOHOOF

High yielding dairy cows, intensively fed beef cattle and replacement heifers are often under considerable metabolic, production and nutritional stress with diets often constructed to maximise performance and with no consideration for animal health.

Biohoof is a brand-new programme that tackles foot health from two angles – a Biobath foot bath specifically formulated to improve external foot health and prevent infection, together with a Biohoof nutritional premix package designed to work from within and boost the immune system, enhance skin integrity and provide an impenetrable tissue barrier to infectious agents. The Biohoof programme has also been shown to help improve milk production and fertility.

BENEFITS

REDUCES LOSSES THROUGH LAMENESS

- Specifically targets Digital Dermatitis
- Formulated to help improve foot health & prevent infection
- A combined management and nutrition solution

IMPROVES FOOT HEALTH

- Helps to enhance skin integrity
- Works to encourage an improved impenetrable tissue barrier to infectious agents
- Less irritable on raw lesions

SIMPLE SYSTEM

- Easy footbath solution for daily treatment
- Feed supplement mixed into concentrates or TMR
- Two-pronged approach that is proven to work

WHY IT WORKS

This two-pronged approach to foot health and lameness is a major advance in dairy management and nutrition.

The Biobath foot bath is formulated with a source of acidified copper sulphate which works to improve external foot health and specifically target Digital Dermatitis. The solution remains effective even for the last cow through the foot bath and is less irritable than other treatments for raw lesions.

The Biohoof premix package contains key sources of vitamins and micro-nutrients designed to improve foot health in modern intensive production systems. Formulated to work from within, it contains key ingredients such as Vitamin E, two sources of zinc and Selmel to help improve foot health and enhance skin integrity.
